Nearly 100 years ago, Adam Deihm started a service station on the busiest corner in Remus. Two years later in 1927, Mannie Gingrich took over the service station affectionally known to us as "Gingrich's". Mannie operated as a Standard Oil station, serving the motoring public with minor repairs and tire sales. After WWII Mar Gingrich began working at the service station and operated the business until Mike Gingrich purchased it in 1992. Mar worked until he was 85 years old. Mike worked for his father through high school, then went on to get an architectural degree from Ferris State University. He made use of his degree for 10 years before returning to the family business full time in 1997.

The Gingrich family has resided in the Remus area since 1862 and quickly became a staple in our community. Through their business and community life, the Gingrich family has been able to establish relationships with generations of local families. Mike supports the Remus Lions Club, offers sales for Remus Heritage Days, and sells raffle tickets for St. Michael's School. Whether it be serving the public at Gingrich's or through community involvement, Mike keeps himself very busy in our small town.

Present Day, Gingrich's is still a tire & lube oil service station offering the best quality petroleum products, top notch car care and the largest selection of Goodyear-Kelly tires. Their mission is to provide the best American-built tires at fair prices with fast, dependable service. With a staff of 5, Mike's team offers a combined 76 years of experience. Taking care of the customers needs is a top priority at Gingrich Tire Center so Mike looks for employees that treat customers like they would their friends and family. As they approach their centennial in 2027, Mike says they plan to continue serving the Remus community for years to come.
